"NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN"

As we pass through this beautiful world,
We must own it is wen ir usly fair
In the rich, va ed scenes r un l us spread
In the joys of its pure l amy air

Every step will bring fresh scenes to light
Ere our life's changing c urse will have run
We may see myriad marvels each day
Yet there's nothing new under the sun

The springtime that comes with its wealth
Of zephyrs and fair blooming flowers
With the same charm in centuries long gone
Breathed its music o'er Eden's fair bowers

The stream that now murmurs along
With its crystal spray brightly agleam,
With its voice like a happy t ned song
And its waves that with iris hues seem

Glistens now as it glistened when first
Through the w odland it sparkled in glee
When like diamonds it flashed in the sun
As it swept on its course to the sea

The forests that now proudly lift
Their leafy green crests t the skies
The ocean whose billows reflect
The wisdom of God the a wise

The lightnings that flash and the storm
Ne'er ceasing the wild urse they run,
Are echoes of that well known truth
There's nothing new under the sun

Those towering summits that grace
The horizon's fair glittering lone
Once slumbered far d wn in the depths
Of the wonderful ocean's dark home

The dew drop that glistening lies
Enshrined in the heart of the rose
Was a tear drop perhaps A lam she l
O'er his own and his children's sad woes

For the old in the tiny c lec mes new
While the new in its turn l c mes old
But the constant resurgam is sung
Breathing joy as the death dirge is tolled

For we know from the blight f the past
All the bloom of the pres nt is w n
That of all things from first to the last
There is nothing new under the sun

The thousands of years that have flown
Have oft witnessed a sad parting sigh
Such as leaves our young bosoms to-day
As our lips murmur fondly Good bye

The sorrows the desirds and joys
That checker our lives scenes on ea th
Are the silver lined clouds that have hung
O'er our world since Humanity's birth

As the wail of the heart in its grief,
First heard in the blest paradise
When sin with its ills entered in—
We repeat in our care laden sighs

But whatever we feel or have felt
Whatever we do or have done
Has its parallel somewhere on earth
For there's nothing new under the sun

—Miss I Sedlark

College of Notre Dame }
San Jose, June 6th 1876 }

—During the great storm in Ohio a train of cars ran into a tunnel near North Bend, in which the water was so deep that it put out the fire in the locomotive, and over a hundred passengers were imprisoned Another train would be due in an hour, and it was necessary that somebody should get out of the tunnel and reach a neighboring signal to prevent a terrible disaster The water was about four feet deep and running swiftly. A young man, whose name is not given in the Cincinnati Times account of the occurrence, volunteered for the exploit The total darkness increased the danger, and the distance was an eighth of a mile The young man removed his boots and coat and plunged in The current carried him along, and he easily kept his head above water, although collisions against the rocky sides of the tunnel nearly disabling him, but he made the passage and stopped the train In the meantime the passengers in the tunnel were trembling with hope and fear, and the suspense was not relieved until several hours later, the water subsided, the fire in the locomotive was rekindled, and the journey was continued

—They call it the "fighting trick" in Detroit A benevolent-looking man enters a drinking saloon, followed soon after by a wiry little fellow who invites No 1 to take a drink and a cigar The liquor is swallowed, the cigars are lighted, when suddenly No. 2 exclaims "For thirty long years I have followed your trail day and night' You broke up my happy family, villain that you are, but now come out here and fight me like a man'' "I will fight you to the death" is the determined reply, and both rush into the back yard. The agitated barkeeper runs to the front door, whistles for a policeman, and hurries to the back door just in time to see a coat tail disappearing over the fence Then he begins to realize the situation

—Weston, the pedestrian, has had a varied experience in Europe Owing to able management he was financially successful at the outset in England The profits of his first exhibition are said to have been from $10,000 to $15,000, and he was for a time the chief subject of talk in London Then his best performances were outdone in a contest of amateurs, and he was advised that his harvest of money was over, but he persists in walking more. His business manager has parted company with him, and he is likely to lose all he has made —An electric pen has been invented. It consists of a small electric engine on the top of a holder, which is used as a pen The machine works a needle that pierces the paper, making 5,000 or 6,000 holes a minute, and in writing the needle moves so fast that it does not drag or tear the paper The piece of paper is placed in a frame, where the holes are filled with ink, then a sheet of paper is put under it, it is rolled, and a perfect fac simile of the writing is obtained These fac similes can be produced at the rate of five or six a minute.

—The latest Omaha sensation is Miss Coats. She taught for a year in the public schools, won the confidence and esteem of all, went into the best society, identified herself prominently with the church, was a devoted and favorite Sunday school teacher, and all this time was carrying on a systematic course of thieving for her numerous and intimate friends. When found out she decamped for the Pacific coast without formal leave taking.

—Prominent Boston persons and newspapers discountenance the reading of the Declaration of Independence as a public ceremony. They think the lengthy arraignment of George III. lacks significance [illegible] and that Richard Henry [illegible] resolution of July 2, [illegible] the independence of [illegible] wisely be sub[illegible]

Perils of the Rail.

The engineer had gotten off to snow ball a chipmunk, and the conductor was minding a young widow's baby for her, and the result was that the train happened to get on a down grade and was started off at a terrific rate every bit of four miles an hour, I should think We were just half a mile above the Annapolis junction and the first thing we knew—there being no one to whistle and wake up the switch tender—we were turned off into the Annapolis road and went down the wrong track at full speed Imagine our consternation when just at that moment we heard the whistle not half a mile ahead of us, of the Annapolis up train We were paralyzed with terror Here were two trains on the same track approaching each other at the dizzy speed just mentioned Evidently our time had come' In a few short hours the engines would meet and then—destruction

Pale, but calm, the doomed band of passengers sat, and though with the very show of death upon them raised their voices in a parting hymn

'Send for the baggage master' said a young man with a sad smile

'Why?' was asked

"Because we are about to pass in our checks

Everybody wept From the rear platform we could see the miserable engineer straining every nerve to catch up, but he had tight boots on and didn't gain anything to speak of

At this moment a ray of hope dawned upon us I had just finished writing my will, on the back of a visiting card, when I observed a young lady in the act of detaching her bustle Placing the article—which was composed of eight hundred newspapers and a hair mattress—under her arm the heroine marched through the car

We followed her anxiously

She climbed up on the tender and then over the engine It was interesting and and thrilling to see her climb over the wheels and brass things on her way to the cow catcher It reminded me of a country girl getting over a wire fence But never mind that now Let us see where I was Oh, yes—on the cow-catcher Holding on by the cross bars with one hand the noble maiden tied the bustle on the sharp prow with the other

You can guess the result In the course of the afternoon the collision came off Protected by the bustle we received a gentle bump, and were saved

I took up a collection for the woman on the spot I always take up collections on such occasions—always And what's more, I never forgot to give the object interested something nice out of it—never There is nothing mean about me I suppose you have noticed my clothes?

Lord Derby's Reply to Mr. Fish.

LONDON, July 13—The final correspondence between the United States and Great Britain on the extradition question including Lord Derby's note of June 30 to Secretary Fish, is published to-day Lord Derby in his note says

The essential principles of extradition, as practised by England are that a person surrendered on an extradition treaty can be tried on no offence except the one for which he is surrendered This is the proper construction of the treaty of 1842 Her Majesty's Government thinks that the act of 1870 is important but without it it would maintain the same position The Government maintains the right of asylum until criminality according to the law of England is shown This applied forcibly in the case of political offences The great object in requiring evidence not merely establishing an offence called by the name of the offence specified in a treaty but establishing an offence of that name according to the law of the surrendering country, is to prevent the surrender of a person on a charge of crime of uncertain meaning and his subsequent trial on facts considered here as establishing a political offence, and not for the crime for which the surrender was made The surrendering country must have the facts to judge whether the offence is political

Secretary Fish's assurance is that no Administration dare violate the rights of political asylum by obtaining a prisoner on one charge and trying him for a political offence is not sufficent, as the Attorney General can not interfere when an offence is committed against the law of any one State The act of Congress of August 12, 1848, c 47, s 3 shows the construction put on the treaty by the United States

Lord Derby briefly reviews the negotiations in 1871, 1872, and 1873, says

The violation in the case of Helbronn was not the act of her Majesty's Government, but it regretted it The Government believe that the United States is actuated by a sincere desire to maintain the rights which in their judgment are demanded by the treaty of 1842, and they wish the same construction put on England's motives

The note deplores the misunderstanding between the two Governments, and says the British Government is ready to join the United States in negotiating a new treaty

An Easy Way of Being Witty.

Oriental travelers say that a Chinese gentleman thinks it beneath his dignity to manufacture his own witticism. He appreciates wit, and is fond of tea, but he would as soon grow his own tea as make his own jokes. When he goes into society he carries in his pocket a package of prepared witticisms and repartees, which he has purchased from the nearest joke shop. When conversation flags, and he perceives an opportunity for saying something brilliant, he draws a humorous remark from the top of his package, and gravely hands it to his neighbor The latter as gravely reads it, and, selecting from his bundle of repartees the one which is appropriate, returns it, with a bow, to the original joker The two then solemnly smile in a courteous and undemonstrative way, and resume their conversation feeling that they have acquitted themselves with suspicious brilliancy.

—The early Massachusetts father did not believe in paint. The Rev Thomas Allen of Charlestown was brought up in 1630 for "having paint about his dwelling," and only escaped by showing that it was done before his time, and that he disapproved of it. The first Boston church was never painted, and a list of Boston mechanics in 1670 does not include a painter. This abomination did not become common until after the Revolution.

THE two morning papers used to be in favor of the appointment of delegates to conventions and opposed to the holding of primaries, merely because the "boys" wanted them. Both have flopped, and this morning they are talking about the rights of the people and all that, as if the country would go to the dogs unless the gentlemen who constitute our County Central Committee should call a primary. The appointment of delegates has been repeatedly approved of, and the conventions thus formed are generally worthy of more respect than such as are chosen by the other method. We never saw a finer convention in this county, than our last, and perhaps that is the reason why the politicians do not like it. We hope that the Committee will be guided by public opinion, as they can ascertain it, without regard to the threats of interested parties.

THE Liberal Republicans will not hold a National Convention, being thoroughly satisfied with the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler. Though some persons sneer at the Liberals, it cannot be denied that they have largely influenced the action of both political parties. It has been felt that the number of these non-partisan voters was large enough to turn the scale, and that each of the great parties must bid for their support by offering the best possible nominations. The prospects of the Republicans never looked better than at present. The opposition of the Democrats has never been formidable; the real danger has been the dissatisfaction among Republicans themselves. As far as the National ticket is concerned, there is the most complete harmony, although there may be plenty of discord in reference to other matters.

THE Republicans are not responsible for the reviving of the "bloody shirt" argument in this campaign. It is forced by the southern people themselves. The frequent outrages upon the negroes are not to be ignored. The safety of millions of men who are our fellow citizens is at stake; it is as important now to secure to them the right to live, as it was to free them from bondage. Their present position appeals just as strongly to the nation; as long as the leading men of the South give encouragement to such attacks upon an inoffensive people, so long is there a duty to be performed by the Republican party. We should like to see the Southern question taken out of politics, but such cannot be the case until the South itself alters its policy.

SOME of the Sioux are British subjects, their grounds being just across the Canadian borders, and an inquiry has been made by the Dominion authorities as to whether any of these Indians are engaged in the present war. The British never have any serious trouble with their Indians because they treat with them upon a theory entirely different from that accepted in the United States. They do not make treaties with the tribes and then swindle them, but hold them to the same accountability as other subjects for their acts.

THE valuable time of the United States Senate is taken up by members who make political stump speeches to the exclusion of the pressing business demanding consideration. In fact, for months past Congress has been skirmishing about political matters, to the neglect of the true interests of the country. There will soon be an end to it, for the members are becoming anxious to return home and look after matters and things in their own districts.

THE Tammany Boss is not charged with corruption; he is not exerting himself to make money, as he has enough already. It is said that he exerts himself from the sheer love of power. He has an influence greater than that of almost any person in official station; he makes Mayors, Judges, Assemblymen, *Alderman, minor officers and is a sort of ... satisfied with the newly ...ed title of Boss.

AN ORIENTAL INFLATIONISTS.

Marco Polo, the famous traveler who first wrote of the Tartars and Chinese and told stories of their manners and customs, gives us what may be the first instance of an issue of greenbacks. Six hundred years ago Kublai Kahn, King of the Tartars, adopted a financial system that has its counterpart in America. We quote the following from his book:

With regard to the money of Kambalu, the great Kahn may be called a perfect alchemist, for he makes it himself. He orders people to collect the bark of a certain tree whose leaves are eaten by the worms that spin silk. The thin rind between the bark and the interior wood is taken, and from it cards are formed like those of paper, all black. He then causes them to be cut into pieces, and each is declared worth respectively half a livre, a whole one a silver grosso of Venice, and so on to the value of ten bezants. All these cards are stamped with his seal, and so many are fabricated that they would buy all the treasuries in the world. He makes his payments in them, and circulates them through the kingdoms and provinces over which he holds dominion, and none dares to refuse them, under pain of death. All nations under his sway receive and pay this money for their merchandise—gold, silver, precious stones, and whatever they transport, buy or sell. The merchants often bring him goods worth 400,000 bezants, and he pays them all in these cards, which they willingly accept, because they can make purchases with them throughout the whole empire. He frequently commands those who have gold, silver, cloths of silk and gold, or other precious commodities, to bring them to him. Then he calls twelve men, skillful in these matters, and commands them to look at the articles and fix their price. Whatever they name is paid in these cards, which the merchant cordially receives. In this manner the great sire possesses all the gold, silver, pearls, and precious stones in his dominions. When any of the cards are torn or spoiled, the owner carries them to the place whence they were issued and receives fresh ones, with a deduction of three per cent. * * * This is the reason why the Kahn has more treasure than any other lord in the world; nay, all the princes in the world together have not an equal amount.

This throws our inflationists into the shade. Interconvertible bonds and all other patent methods are nowhere in comparison with the plan above described. Hendricks, Pig Iron Kelley, Uncle Bill Allen, and the rest of them, are not quite up to the ancient Tartars in the tricks of finance, but if they read history a little more they will make up for present deficiencies.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE CITY.

Since the commencement of this year, first-class brick buildings to the value of over half a million dollars have been erected, or are in course of erection, and the number of frame dwelling houses built is apparently greater than heretofore, during a period of six months. It is not too high to place the value of all these improvements at seven hundred thousand dollars. In the meantime there has been unusual activity in macadamizing the streets, building sewers and laying down sidewalks. The people are building up the city as fast as they can and are making money by their investment. There is a brisk demand for new houses as fast as they are ready for occupancy, and there is a rush of applicants for business property. The railroad people have given us a new ferry, which will be of greater service in a month or two, after a little more dredging at the entrance to the harbor.

The city government is running very smoothly and quietly and there is an efficient administration of affairs. It might be a little more active, however, and see if some important interests cannot be promoted by appropriate action. The last Legislature gave us a new street law and it also vested the Council with power to extend the streets to deep water. To reach the channel, private property must be condemned, but we have repeatedly been assured that this right of way would be dedicated whenever asked for. It is evidently time to ask for it and see if these assurances were reliable. More docks are needed, there must be a fuller realization of the value of the work the United States Government is doing for us. We are fully aware of the difficulties that will beset the Council the moment it undertakes to act in this matter, but we believe that these obstacles can be overcome without litigation, if the task is set about in the right manner. The Council has numerous committees, but none that is charged with the important duty of attending to water front matters, which involve the highest interests of the city. A little attention might also be paid to the ornamentation of the city. The public squares are a disgrace instead of an ornament. Considerations of economy need not be urged, for Oakland is not so poor that she cannot indulge in a few municipal luxuries.

THE horrors of an Eastern summer are unabated. When the people are not dying from sunstroke, they are falling victims to lightning. The intensely disagreeable weather is the sole cause of the comparatively slight attendance at the Exposition. Thousands of people who have gone there with the intention of remaining a month have staid but two or three days. There will doubtless be a greater rush of visitors during the fall. And Californians would do well to postpone their visits until that time.

THE editor of the Alta is in love with his own productions, as the same editorial was made to do duty yesterday and to-day. Perhaps, however, the foreman, not the editor, was carried away by its marvelous literary merit, and decided to let the public have a second dose.

LAST evening the Bulletin corrected the statement it made concerning the death rate in this city. The error was unintentional, but that paper will justify Oakland people in feeling a little sore, upon the first publication of so serious a mistatement.

—They have a Mexican circus at Tucson, Arizona, this summer. It is held in a corral, and the prices of admission are $1 for a place in the shade and 50 cents in the sun. Each one to furnish his own seat. Three horses and four men compose the whole outfit, and they make lots of fun.

FIRE ALARM BOXES AND KEYS.

Each policeman has a key. The bell taps the numbers as far as nine, making a pause after reaching the number desired, before repeating. The numbers 1, 10, and 11 are not used. For No. 12, give one tap, pause a moment and then two taps; for 13, one tap, pause and then three taps—and so on, up to No. 16. To give the alarm, pull down the hook inside the box—one pull—the box does the work. Following is the location of boxes and keys.

BROOKLYN REPUBLICANS.

Mustering their Forces for the Campaign.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY.

Enthusiastic Meeting at Washington Hall

NO MORE "INDEPENDENTS."

Organization of a Hayes and Wheeler Club Last Night.

THOROUGH WORK TO BE DONE.

The Seventh Ward to be Systematically Canvassed.

Stirring Speeches by A. A. Moore, Henry Vrooman and A. C. Henry.

The leading Republicans of East Oakland met last evening at Washington Hall, pursuant to a call published in the TRIBUNE, took initial steps in the organization of a Hayes and Wheeler Club, and began preparations for thorough and systematic work during the coming Presidential campaign Shortly after eight o'clock the meeting was called to order by J H Watson, who briefly stated the object of the call and spoke of the great importance of the pending contest

The meeting was organized by the election of J J Pensam as Chairman, and George A Beers, Secretary

A motion instructing the Chairman to appoint a committee of five on Permanent Organization was carried, and J H. Watson, George Chase, Thomas Eager, O Whipple and W C Mason were appointed as such committee

The committee at once retired for consultation, and pending their report brief but stirring addresses were made by A A Moore, Esq, A C Henry, and City Attorney Vrooman

REMARKS BY MR MOORE

In response to a hearty invitation Mr Moore said that he came there with no expectation of making a speech He was, however, forcibly reminded of the last time he visited Washington Hall on a political occasion It was on the evening of the day of Mr Ralston's death, when a general gloom was felt throughout the community There were other circumstances which formed a strong contrast to the present occasion The Republicans were divided and the organization considerably demoralized, the Democrats had secured the Hall at the other end of the town, etc, now, however,

TIMES ARE MORE AUSPICIOUS

The old sore heads and whilom 'Independents" have seen the error of their devious ways, and have come back to take their places in the reorganized ranks of the straight Republicans They have bridged the bloody chasm and are striking hands with their old comrades This left wing of the Democracy has returned to its first love They now see that the

WARNING VOICE WHICH

They hooted at when given, was right, they see their grave error, and in this campaign they are embracing the opportunity to redeem the past During the last campaign they were deceived by the hypocritical demagogues of the Democracy, who raised the banner cry of "Reform" and becoming disaffected worked against the Republican party, and denounced leading Republicans as forming a dishonest "Court house Ring,' and did what they could to throw victory into the hands of the Democrats Now they see that we were right and they were wrong Mr Moore believed that all this was past, and

HARMONY FULLY RESTORED

The judicious action of the Cincinnati Convention, the unimpeachable record of its nominees, the admirable platform built, and Gov Hayes' throughly satisfactory letter of acceptance has had the effect to thoroughly unite the Republican party, to restore it to its maximum strength and infuse into its now serried ranks all the old enthusiasm and esprit du corps that heretofore enabled it to sweep its political opponents from the field In Alameda county all the recent discord has given place to harmony, and there is no ill feeling existing over the past Mr Moore believed he had suffered as much personally from the recent disaffection as any man, and, therefore, thought himself just as competent to speak of the

GOOD WILL NOW EXISTING

As any man in the county. He remembered saying during the last campaign that the Democrats were then only sounding their way to struggle for the victory in the coming Presidential campaign — that they were trying to dismember the Republican party, that they crept insiduously into the hearts of many Republicans, and wherever they found a disaffected member

THEY CORRALLED HIM,

And he attempted then to portray the fact that the Democrats cared very little as to the result of that campaign except as to its effect on the coming Presidential election If they could only carry the idea of a non-partisan election they could hoodwink and beguile some Republicans and secure here and there the election of a Democrat, and thus secure what spoils they could. They sent their emmisaries abroad to all classes, saying, "O, we don't want to inquire what a local candidate's politics has been, the simple question is, is he a good man?"—anything to keep out

"THE COURT HOUSE CLIQUE"

With the help of recalcitrant Republicans they secured, they had succeeded in carrying the county. Whose fault this is, it is to-day useless to inquire. The Independents had come back, and the knell of Democratic defeat had already sounded. Mr. Moore said he had lived in Alameda county ever since he was eleven years of age, knew nearly every man in it, had constant opportunities of seeing and talking with men from every part of it, and had yet to find the first man who had ever been a Republican who was not

THOROUGHLY SATISFIED

With the platform adopted, by the [illegible] satisfied with its nominations and with Governor Hayes' letter of acceptance, and enthusiastic over the prospect of the triumphant election of Hayes and Wheeler He had yet to find a man who had one fault to find with the platform, or word of dissatisfaction with the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler They are all in deep earnest on this subject

Mr Moore's remarks were received with hearty applause

HON. A C HENRY

Loud calls were made for A C Henry, and in response that gentleman briefly reviewed the situation After some remarks on the vital importance of thorough organization Mr Henry said that the Democrats were obliged to admit that Mr Hayes had made a good Governor the only objection they could raise against him was the fact that he was a Republican His record proves him both honest and competent for the position in which the Republicans of the county are going to place him He is a politician who if you ask him a question as to how he stands will give you a prompt and unequivocal answer, a man whose

WORD IS AS GOOD AS HIS BOND

No man who ever came before the American people for office ever came with a clearer personal and political record or ever stood on a squarer platform, no candidate for any office ever wrote a letter of acceptance so thoroughly satisfactory to all The speaker could say with Mr Moore that he was well acquainted with the people of Alameda county He met in the course of his every day business, men from every part of the county, and had yet to find one man who had ever been a Republican who was dissatisfied with the nominations or with the platform The Republicans are emphatically united Mr Henry was satisfied that Hayes will carry every Northern State—the States that were called

NORTHERN STATES

Before the late war—every State from Maine to the Rocky Mountains and if the Republicans of California only do their duty the result here is as sure Oregon had been put down as doubtful but he felt tolerably confident that the ticket would also carry that State California will give a majority for Hayes and Wheeler of at least 10 000 Republicans must remember they have the same old party to fight that they fought with and whipped in 1860 If they do not believe this let them read the speech of Hill, of Georgia They are just as much

REBELS TO DAY

When they got the Lower House they supposed they had doughfaces as of old to deal with but that man Blaine from the State of Maine taught them better Had they carried their point we would have seen Jeff Davis in the United States Senate in less than four years There never was a man more thoroughly scalpel than Blaine scalped Hill It is the duty of the Republican party to stand by the nominees Under Hayes administration judging from his past record no man or set of men can form a "ring" He is a man who will do right whether he thinks it will please his party or not In conclusion Mr Henry said that he was glad the Republicans of East Oakland had resolved to organize a Club, he was ready to help, and they might call on him for any "rough and tumble work during the campaign If the Republicans throughout the State go to work thoroughly and systematically the State can be carried next fall by a majority of from 10 000 to 15,000 They were bound to triumph

REMARKS OF MR VROOMAN

After the applause which followed Mr Henry's remarks had subsided City Attorney Vrooman was called upon for a speech Mr Vrooman said he believed this was a time when every Republican should take a hand in the campaign We were on the eve of a most important Presidential election, and there was hard work to be done if they would win, they should do everything that lay in their power to further the cause Democrats seek to pull wool over the eyes of Republicans by claiming that the

"BLOODY CHASM"

Has been bridged, and say, Let the dead past bury the past This is emphatically Democratic doctrine and no wonder they want the curtain of oblivion drawn around their past record The leaders know their only hope of success is in securing forgetfulness of their past To beat them in this campaign we have only to go before the people with the Democratic record in one hand and that of the Republican party in the other Mr Vrooman thought

THE PRESS AND STUMP SPEAKERS

Of the Republican party should leave out all unnecessary accusations against their opponents, and confine themselves strictly to what can be verified by the record It is every man's duty to read and study the records of the two parties as they exist in history He believed the Democracy would be thoroughly beaten at the polls next November Like the man and wife who quarrelled about a bonnet, and the defeated man crawled up into the hay mow and drew the ladder up after him, he believed the Democrats would be so badly beaten they would crawl into a hole and draw the hole in after them Their

"WAR CANDIDATE"

Was beaten in 1864, their Peace Candidate" in 1868, and their "Volunteer" Republican candidate in 1872. The Democrats are doing all they can to win this fight for power, but their principles are the same as the Democratic principles of 1830 were, of 1832, and of 1844 There is no difference between the principles held by that party to day and those that animated them in 1860

THEIR CONVENTIONS

Are always held after the Republican conventions Mr Vrooman invited a careful comparison of the two platforms, section by section and claimed that the Republican platform had furnished the text for the Democrats who had patterned after it as closely as they could

WHICH PLATFORM IS HONEST?

Is a question easily decided by examining the past records of the two parties For example look at the imbecile and corrupt administration of Buchanan, which allowed cabinet officers to appropriate public funds punishing them for it During Van Buren's administration from 1837 to 1844, there were thirty-seven defaulting government officers, and the amount stolen from monies passing through official hands was over $11 of every $1000. The amount stolen during the Republican administrations altogether is only $1 12 of every $1000

THE CHINESE.

Vrooman read an extract from the New York Sun to prove that the Chinese plank in the Democratic platform is a mere sham—a "flyer" to catch votes. They would, if unfortunately elected, spit upon any and every plank in that platform that stands in their way.

TILDEN'S RECORD

Was shown up to be that of a State's Right's Southerner. At the time when the war was at its height, and the life of the Government at stake, he [illegible] home inciting the people of the State of New York to resist the draft, and it was he who offered the pusillanimous, treacherous peace resolutions Hayes was honest, patriotic, and a practical reformer Tilden is a sham reformer—a fraud —formerly in the centre of the

CORRUPT CANAL RING

And now turning States evidence against his former pals in order to secure votes A bosom associate of the Boss Tweed whom he did not learn until the expose made by the New York Times led him to make a virtue of necessity He then joined the multitude The country felt the same degree of thankfulness toward Tilden for his [illegible] up the

TAMMANY TIN

As they did to any other criminal who turns State's evidence Before he is elected to the high office to which he aspires, he should be at least compelled to serve a term of probation He is the associate and intimate bosom friend of John Morrissey the gambler and thief Mr Vrooman in conclusion said that the proportion of votes to the aggregate population was generally one to six In ten districts in New York having a population of 22 000 there were polled 44 000 votes—but under Democratic rule there were two votes to every inhabitant That is Democratic Reform If they should succeed this fall the voting population of the country would increase to over 100 000 000 within the following six months

Mr Vrooman's remarks were greeted with round of applause

PERMANENT OFFICERS

At the conclusion of Mr Vrooman's remarks Mr Eager of the Committee on Permanent Organization reported as follow

THERE ARE MANY AGREEABLE peculiarities in the climate of Oakland among which may be noted the fact that many matrimonial unions that have not been prolific of 'little darlings elsewhere, have on the removal of the parties to Oakland been blessed with a quiver full of them' as is demonstrated by the number of high chairs cradles etc sold by Shellhaas, Eleventh street, Odd Fellows Building

OAKLAND'S POSTOFFICE.

The Postmaster Interviewed by a Tribune Reporter

What Mr. Benton Says About the Incivility of Clerks—New Postoffice and Free Delivery.

Having received many complaints concerning the manner in which the Oakland postoffice is conducted, and also having published some communications upon alleged abuses in that department we thought it best to detail one of our staff to interview the Postmaster and state to him the grievances complained of The Tribune desires to see justice done to the citizens of Oakland It is the friend of the citizens it will labor for Oakland's elevation and it is under no obligation to shield any official be he federal municipal or otherwise

Our reporter found the Postmaster Mr Benton in his office and stated the object of his visit He was received courteously and was informed that any information he ought to obtain would be cheerfully imparted We give the result of our reporter's interview with that gentleman in the form of question and answer

LETTERS IN WINDOW BOXES

Rep—There are many complaints about the manner in which matters are conducted in the Oakland postoffice and I have come to state them

P M—What are the complaints

Rep—It is complained that you are in the habit of putting letters in the wrong boxes, that you are slow in the delivery of letters and that [illegible] only one window is open in the general delivery when you should have two

P M—Perhaps once in a while a letter may be placed in a wrong box but this occurs in all offices, and then we have a large number of letters in the general and of course [illegible] that make us responsible [illegible] My clerks [illegible] the delivery of letters [illegible] with accuracy As for the two windows not being open I have not sufficient force to open them at all times to do this I have made application for additional clerks to enable me to do this and I should obtain it

Rep—How many clerks have you

SLOW DELIVERY

P M—My regular force consists of three clerks and a deputy postmaster besides myself [illegible] with the [illegible] department At present one of my clerks is sick and in that [illegible]

Rep—It was stated to me at the post office last Sunday by a man that he [illegible] over fifty persons and that he had been waiting his turn for one hour to apply at the window

P M—I say that was impossible On Sunday there are few [illegible] the window so I [illegible] only one hour for the general delivery

Rep—Now I [illegible] the following question not so much for my own information as for the purpose of obtaining an official answer Why have we not a free delivery in Oakland

FREE DELIVERY

P M—Of course you are aware that the law requires that a city shall have thirty thousand inhabitants before there can be a free delivery, and Oakland has not that showing at the last census

Rep—Are you not aware that some cities have a free delivery that have not thirty thousand inhabitants?

P M—If they have they obtained it under the old law which existed in 1873 when only twenty thousand were required for the purpose

Rep—Have you ever made application for a free delivery in Oakland?

P M—Yes I applied last year to the Postmaster General and had the assistance of Senator Sargent and congressman Page and I received the short answer that it required thirty thousand inhabitants I have spent a good deal of time and paid money out of my own pocket to obtain a free delivery

UNCIVIL CLERKS

Rep—It is stated that some of your clerks are uncivil, personally I know nothing of this as I have always seen them civil in their answers to all persons

P M—I would not for a moment sustain incivility in my clerks if it came to my knowledge, but then, many persons think they have a liberty to abuse a postoffice clerk Our business compells us to give short answers, but they must not be thought uncivil on that account I am sure we bestow as much civility to the public as they show to us

Rep—Do you think the present post office building large enough for Oakland's accommodation?

P M—It is large enough but not quite of the right shape

Rep—Your lobby is not of a sufficient size to shelter the people in wet weather it is a poor boxed up little place

NEW POSTOFFICE

P M—That is true, but under the present circumstances it cannot be helped

Rep—Then why not alter the circumstances and the postoffice afterwards The Government has constructed a good postoffice in San Francisco and why not have one here?

P M—The Government rarely constructs a building for a postoffice alone In San Francisco the building there is used for many purposes The people of Sacramento have applied to have the Department erect an office in that city, but without success

Rep—Have you ever applied to the authorities to give you a larger building?

P M—No because I know it would be of no use At present I am allowed a certain sum to furnish my own office I am allowed $2,000 a quarter for clerk hire and this sum is not sufficient I have had to pay money out of my own pocket for this purpose

Rep—It would be of great convenience if we had boxes in different parts of the city where citizens could deposit letters instead of having to tramp a mile or two for that purpose

P M—I know it, but the putting up of boxes is a part of the free delivery system

Rep—Well, these are not laws but simply orders of the department, and I think it is a foolish order that will not give a city boxes because it has not thirty thousand inhabitants

P. M—I am not responsible for the orders of the Department I am conscious that I have done my duty and shall continue to do so as long as I am here I hope to have a free delivery in Oakland during the coming year and I shall spare no pains in removing any grievances that may exist

Rep—I will not trouble you any longer to day, but I am conscious that our citizens will make some stir in this matter We are now in a position to ask for a free delivery and the government is in duty bound to give us not only a good postoffice but also to see that everything is carried on in a prompt and systematic manner

This reduction can only be profitable to the Company by the accession of a sufficient number of new consumers to compensate for the lessening of its current receipts and it will become the interest of all consumers of gas to induce their neighbors to adopt this light in order that further reductions may be made in the future.

The attention of consumers is also directed to the use of gas for heating and cooking In Europe and the East it has been adopted to a great extent and its use is continually extending

It is to be hoped that this movement will be accepted in the spirit which has inspired it and which has always characterized the Company [illegible]

Office Oakland Gaslight Co., February 1 1875.

In pursuance of the policy followed by this Company since its formation, viz.: to lower its rates as rapidly as is warranted by the growth of the city, the price of gas will be reduced on the

1st Day of March Next

—TO—

$4 25 PER 1,000 CUBIC FEET

Considering the [illegible] of [illegible] the limited use of gas and the distance between the places of consumption,

Oakland will be the most cheaply lighted city in the Union

This price will leave no [illegible] for the use of any illuminant but [illegible] the lines of the Company's mains [illegible] which are now and have been [illegible] laid unproductive of income.

The advantages to be reaped by the public from Cheap Gas are—

1st.—A daily saving [illegible] cost of [illegible] of the necessaries of life.

2d.—A decrease in [illegible] of [illegible] fires caused by the [illegible] still sites of Petroleum.

3d.—A saving of [illegible] by substituting stationary lights for [illegible].

4th.—The most [illegible] safest light brought within the [illegible] household.

However small the [illegible] will be great. If [illegible] the rate of premium will be lessened if not [illegible], the risk of loss will be decreased.

This reduction can only be profitable to the Company by the increase of a sufficient number of new consumers to compensate for the lessening of its current receipts, and it will be [illegible] the interest of all consumers of gas to induce their neighbors to [illegible] this light in order that further reductions [illegible] be made in the future.

A Telegraph Operator Killed by Lightning.

Lizzie M Clapp, a telegraph operator at the Readville station of the Boston and Providence Railroad in Hyde Park, was struck by lightning at 4 o'clock p. m. yesterday and instantly killed. It appears that Miss Clapp, with her sister Etta, Miss Lotta Gulierson, and J. P. Davis, the station agent, were in the office together. The wires had been disconnected from the instruments to insure safety, and no message was sent or received after the storm commenced. About 2 p. m. Miss Clapp was sitting on the window in close proximity to the wires. When the bolt struck it flew from the wire, striking her on the left side of the neck leaving a black mark which subsequently extended down her breast. She arose to her feet after being struck, gave one piercing scream, and sank to the floor lifeless. People at Canton Hills a short distance from the station say that they saw a ball of electricity passing along the wire toward the station at that time. Mr. Davis represents the crash as deafening. Miss Clapp was eighteen years of age, a daughter of A. C. Clapp of this town, and had been in the employ of the Western Union Company here four years. She was an amiable lady and a competent operator. It is thought that a string of gold beads around her neck attracted the electricity, as they were melted, and neither these nor the lady's ear drop could be found.—Boston Herald.

Chase From Holland to Minnesota.

Henry Van Hoven, a Dutch nobleman, was brought from Minnesota by Deputy United States Marshal Crowley yesterday and lodged in the Ludlow street jail to await extradition to Holland on the charge of forgery. His capture has been the work of months. He was an extensive cattle dealer in Holland and forged checks to a large amount while a bankrupt. He escaped to [illegible] with the money, and invested in the purchase of a large stock farm. The next heard of him was in March last, when Mr. Kline, the Dutch Vice-Consul in St Paul reported to the counsel for the Dutch Government in this city that the native was in that place. Deputy Marshal Robinson caught him at Wilmurth, a railroad station west of St Paul. The Marshal ascertained that he had a bank account of several thousand dollars in St Paul, and he intended to draw it from with the money. The prisoner was taken to St Paul and the Marshal, while waiting with him there for the train, was served with a writ of habeas corpus and afterward arrested by the St Paul officials for assault. The writ was made returnable on Saturday night, and court was opened at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning to hear the case. Van Hoven fought his case through several courts, but before he could get a final discharge a new warrant was obtained for him from here, and he was taken under it by Marshal Crowley. His capture has cost five thousand dollars.

The frequent unjust and foolish acts of Justices of the Peace in England, such as inordinate punishment for trivial offences, have aroused so much indignation that Parliament has discussed the subject. The Justices, according to a statement made by one of the debaters, seldom have much knowledge of law, but depend upon their clerks, who may be equally ignorant. They are unpaid, and the only qualification required is the ownership of a certain amount of property. Thus a stripling of twenty, said a member, a graceless Bob Acres, may climb his place upon the judgment seat and send his humble neighbors to jail for the unlawful possession of a turnip. The action of these judges by virtue of their land is felt as a grievous miscarriage or deterioration of justice not only in their courts. Upon them devolve the duties of visitors and managers of prisons. The consequence is that penal discipline varies with their whims and humors, and that whipping is prevalent in one district and unknown in another.

The Shakers of Hancock, Mass., say their old leader, who managed the community at the close of the revolution, while at work one day in a boggy hayfield was seized with the prophetic power of the spirit and thus addressed his wondering companions: "The day will come when men will travel on iron roads in vehicles drawn by iron machines, propelled by the power of steam, and—thrusting his long rake handle into the spongy ground—"such a road will one day be built right here." The Boston and Albany Railroad passes over the field and the very very spot where this utterance was given ninety four years ago.

—A few days since a Boston woman entered a Beacon street car and mentioned to the conductor that she desired to get out near Arlington street. No doubt astonished at the variety of and many directions from which they came and went seemingly without regularity, she politely remarked to the conductor as he handed her: "I'm very much obliged to you. I'm sure, but I'm afraid I've taken you out of your way."

It is estimated that there are about 600 American youths, aged from twelve to twenty years, who are engaged in the business of amateur journalism.
